To the Graduates:

As this message is written, conditions in the world are such that right-thinking men feel inclined to say with Mark Antony, "Oh, judgment! thou art fled to brutish beasts, and men have lost their reason."

My earnest hope is that before you and your generation shoulder the problems our generation is handing to you, liberty-loving people may have settled the international difficulties of today.

In any event, I hope that you may be blest with the courage, understanding, and faith that will cause you to stand for and fight for the perpetuation of democratic governments and institutions throughout the world, based on the belief that human beings are not made for exploitation.

May you have courage to "carry the torch" for the reign of reason, tolerance, and justice.

Sincerely yours,

A. N. McCallum

To the Students of Austin High School:

You stand between a century of achievement and a lifetime of opportunity. Amid the pictured beginnings of this city, distinguished by patriotic service and vigorous citizenship, can be found the inspiration for a greater Austin and a pattern of courage, foresight, and consecration for the civic pioneers of tomorrow. Let us face the oncoming responsibilities with the determination that our civic zeal shall grow in the measure of our opportunities.

HYPATIAN LITERARY SOCIETY

When ten smart girls got together way back in '16 and organized one of the first sisterhoods in Austin High School, they gave the world something to talk about in the person of the Hypatian Literary Society.

Hypatia, a Christian worker of olden times, is responsible for the name of the club, while the word "Literary" is indicative of the club's endeavor to cultivate each and every member's appreciation of fine art. The word "Society" is just a collective noun for Silver Teas, picnics, initiation banquets, and Charity Style Shows, given in co-operation with the Forrest Guynn Cook Club.

The club flower is the calla lily and speaking of colors, Hypatians put things down in black and white.

The Hypatians have undertaken extra-curricular activities enthusiastically, in many cases combining beauty with brains as proved by the number of Hypos in the National Honor Society, the Student Council, the Red Jackets, and the Red Dragon Players. They have also won acclamation in Intramural Declamation Women always have the last word!

FORREST GUINN COOK CLUB

In the memory of Forrest Guynn Cook, a former all-round student of Austin High School, in 1925 a group of boys formed a club with the purpose of developing interest in the scholastic, athletic, and social activities of A. H. S.

Their motto: "Develop the Traits of Manhood," has been carried out to the very letter as proved by those handsome specimens who have tempted the feminine eye as leading men in the Red Dragon Players, Intramural Sports and Declamation, and other activities of the school.

Their banquet, which is an annual feature, is brimming full of glitter and entertainment.

Many Guynn Cook pledges have come home from initiation, which was accompanied by the traditional trimmings, saying, "Today I Am a Man."

POLYHYMNIAN LITERARY SOCIETY

The Polyhymnian Literary Society was the brain-storm of twenty-five ambitious young females in the year 1927. This organization is the godchild of Polyhymnia, the Muse of Religious Poetry, who carried the scepter to show that "Eloquence rules with resistless sway."

The Polys are optimistic young things as they hold full sway o'er the fields of debate, declamation, and extempore speech. However, they excell in other branches . . . mainly as hostesses. Many young swains have come from a Poly picnic, dance, or Silver Tea goggle-eyed at the breathtaking pomp and ceremony with which the club members entertain society.

In the past many Polys have reigned as Queens of Austin High School 'mid the majestic splendor of Mr. Burton's annual revues. Yes, many Coronation Revues have been blessed with Poly pulchritude!

CALHOUN DEBATING SOCIETY

If you should happen to see a tall, dark mebbe blonde and handsome young gent strolling about with a slightly uplifted nose, you could almost stake your life on the fact that he's one of the Calhoun brothers and he knows his nose will let you know that he's a member of the "grandfather" club of Austin High School. It was in 1901 that they got their start, and they've been going strong ever since.

The fact that they've always brought home the forensic "bacon" is proof enough that the Calhouns have stood by their motto, "We can, we have, we will" for more than a quarter of a century; that they have been one of our chief stand-bys.

Their annual costume dance compels many A. H. S. beauties to dig deep into mother's rag bag or trunk AND when the fun has died down, the rumors of those daring get-ups live forever.

MARGARET PRESTON LITERARY SOCIETY

The wise old owl watches over those captivating Margaret Prestons who want "to be rather than to seem to be" They've been a tradition with A. H. S. since October 10, 1916.

The club was named in honor of Margaret Preston, a poetess . . . and it was with this in mind that they chose to develop literary interest and expression as their primary aim.

The original nine has grown to a limit of forty who may be constantly seen poring over plans for their Silver Tea, their dance, or their picnic, which usually turns out to be a jaunt out to the wide open spaces . . . Camp Warnecke.

"A rose by any other name would smell as sweet" to Margaret Prestons, whose colors are rose and silver.

FRANKLIN DEBATE SOCIETY

In 1937 a new club was born in A. H. S. . . . and was promptly christened in honor of old Ben Franklin who was responsible for the kite and the Saturday Evening Post . . . BUT these two accomplishments of our famous stateman were not wholly responsible for the honor that was bestowed upon him. It was the great things he did for his country that prompted these boys to name one of Austin High School's foremost organizations "The Franklin Debate Society."

Forensics is by no means the only thing in which the members of the Franklin Society excel. They have been represented in the Student Council, the Band, Intramural Sports and other extra-curricular activities.

The bright spots in their school grind are supper dances, spring formals, and picnics.

PLATONIAN LITERARY SOCIETY

The Platonian Literary Society was organized six years ago by Miss Bethol McCollum in Austin High School, and since then it has been one of the leading girls' clubs in the school. Members may not receive credit for club work unless they have checked five units from a list of activities and duties that have been set down by the club as a standard.

With its primary aim to encourage social life in A. H. S. . . . these girls have given the school something to look at and talk about in their annual dances. It is at these parties that the old gymnasium is transformed into a fairyland of colored streamers and other decorations.

A dash of scholastic excellence, a sprinkling of good looks, a smattering of ambition, a bit of fun and frolic and what d' you have? NO, not HASH! But a Woodrow Wilson.

When the Woodrow Wilsons aren't socially inclined, they are usually running away with other honors. They have a reputation for getting what they want, and it is VERY well-known that the "House of Child Prodigy Representatives" (technically known as the National Honor Society) is not ENTIRELY lacking in Woodrow Wilsons. Members have also received substantial positions behind the horse-shoe in the Maroon office, in the Quill and Scroll, and in the Student Council.

SAPPHONIAN LITERARY SOCIETY

- Where? Austin High School.
- When? 'Way back in the middle ages 1917, to be exact.
- Who? Members of the Girls' Debating Society, who decided to take a new lease on life and organize under a new name this time naming themselves after Sappho, the Greek poetess.
- Why? To become stiff competition for the other cliques intramurally and socially speaking; To tell the world in blue and silver that they are out firmly to establish themselves as one of the leading organizations of dear old A. H. S.
- What? The Sapphonian Literary Society.

SENATE DEBATE CLUB

"It can't happen here," they said but it HAS, and they were referring to those ambitious Toms, Dicks, and Harrys who became Senators overnight on March 22, 1937.

They said it couldn't happen here, but they didn't know the "stuff" those handsomes were made of; they never suspected that this club now only two years old would sky-rocket into a substantial place in high school organizations.

Each term when the Senate convenes, they select new members who will lead them on to higher honors in declamation, intramural sports, swimming, track, and football.

It is a very fortunate Miss who gets a bid to their Thanksgiving dance or their May Day picnic and we MIGHT add that we hope they have the power to veto any BILLS that clutter up their mail-boxes after these "shindigs."

ADONIAN LITERARY SOCIETY

With their three-fold purpose in mind, the thirty-one active members of the Adonian Literary Society have embarked upon another successful year in literary and philanthropic achievements plus impressive social gatherings.

Their annual dance with its attractive decorations is NOT ALTOGETHER responsible for the way those tall, dark, and handshakes flock around these pretty misses. Their personal charm and vivacity account for a good deal of it.

The Adonians proved that they are useful as well as ornamental when they substantially backed the philanthropic project fostered by the Student Council in collaboration with various clubs in the school.

SOCRATIC CLUB

Thirteen is the unlucky number for some people but to the members of the Socratic Club it is the equivalent of a rabbit's foot. It was with only thirteen enthusiastic members that the club got its start two years ago. Now it is among the foremost organizations in Austin High School.

The purpose of the club is to hold interesting discussions and debates on various subjects and to encourage participation in forensic activities about the school. The Socratic Club has been well represented in Intramural Sports, Intramural Declamation, the Band, and the Student Council.

Socrates doesn't know it, but he's responsible for the name of the club. The motto is, "Know thyse'f."

Sweet sixteen that was the number of charter members the Philomathian Literary Society had when they organized in 1934 and SWEET they were, too. However, now the original sixteen has been replaced by thirty-five girls who are of the lovely-to-look-at-delightful-to-know variety.

The club motto is: "The world is beautiful to look at, but of little use to him who cannot read it."

The Philomathians deck themselves out in green and silver in December when they have their annual Christmas Tea. In the spring they entertain the men-about-town with a dance their new members, with an initiation banquet.

The name of the Athenaeum Literary Society dates 'way back to the fifth century, A. D. . . . to be exact, the club was named for a temple in Athens built by Hadrian.

This club started out in 1932 as a comparatively small organization . . . numbering twenty-one girls . . . They must have started something, for it has become necessary to limit the membership to forty.

In spite of its short life in A. H. S. the Athenaeums have come through with their colors . . . gold and black . . . flying in intramural sports, intramural declamation, and class elections, and have also been active in the Red Jackets and the orchestra.

Another of A. H. S.'s comparatively new clubs is the Euphronian Literary Society having been organized last fall and being now in its second year of existence. The purpose of this club is to get the most out of life in a literary way as well as to enjoy the athletic and social sides.

The Euphronian meetings consist of programs on etiquette and literature and are interspersed with get-togethers for the purpose of playing games and generally having a good time.

In the fall an initiation party is held and during the Christmas season the members entertain with a party appropriate to the time of the year. However, the Euphronians are partial to picnics; so they honor the spring initiates with a picnic, on which the discomfort caused by the inevitable flies and ants is more than compensated for by the loads of good food.

In just a little over a year and a half, under the sponsorship of Miss Janice Wallace, the Minoan Literary Society has become one of the influential clubs of Austin High School in that members of this club hold responsible positions in the National Honor Society, Quill and Scroll, and the Maroon. The club was represented by a Queen Nominee in the Coronation Revue.

The Minoans have a face toward the future as they are continually planning such enticing parties as will tempt the local males, probably one of the most unique being a skating party and scavenger hunt held on the University campus.

MARGARETTA BYERS CLUB

Budding Schiapparrellis, Lanvins, Le Longs, and Molyneaux that's what the members of the Margaretta Byers Club are (not) Well, anyway, that's what they want to do someday (maybe).

The great inspiration came when several of the present members happened to read Miss Byers' book on fashions and wrote to her about starting a club using her book as a foundation for study. Results: One Margaretta Byers Club in Austin High School.

Not only do the members study all the current fashions, but they try to develop pleasing personalities by studying etiquette, etc. The meetings are very informal in other words, everyone does her part in contributing to the helpful discussions.

When they're not poring over fashion magazines, the members take time out for a few social functions, and they particularly like to take part in all intramural sports.

SODALITAS LATINA

We thought we'd had enough of the Romans in the ninth grade when we struggled and I DO mean STRUGGLED side by side with Julius through his Gallic Wars and we weren't expecting another dose of the man in tenth grade English but we got it and we haven't fully recovered yet. Of course people with minimum intelligence like you and me would bury him, inter his good with his bones and all that sort of thing but the smarties around school got together and gave three cheers for the Romans in the form of the Latin club, their purpose being to study Latin lingo, customs, and character.

However, these energetic guys 'n' gals pause in their continuous digging into the archives of ancient literature to throw a party or three each semester. Their club programs consist of Latin songs, musical numbers, games and they even have slides of the days "way back when."

The club colors are purple and white, the colors of the togas of the Roman Senators. Their motto: "Esse quam videri." It may be Greek to you, but it's Latin for "To be rather than to seem to be."

"Polly quiere una galletica" or "Polly wants a cracker" is what we imagine the parrot which is the Los Habladores' emblem would say. Their motto is "Manana de zorras, mal dia de caza" or "Don't put things off until tomorrow." The club was organized in 1926 by Miss Vera Lee Moore who is still its able sponsor. All Spanish students are eligible for membership.

Anyone passing T 27 during club period will probably hear the strains of a Tango or Rumba, for music is one of the many things that places Los Habladores programs among the most interesting in the school. Sometimes the shades are pulled down and lantern slides of Spain or South America are shown. The club also publishes a bulletin containing songs and stories, and participates in the Pan American Student Forum and the State and National conventions of Spanish Clubs.

EL ARCO IRIS

Have you always had a yen to learn more about our Spanish-speaking neighbors to the South and also in far-away Spain? . . . Well, they say opportunity only knocks once, but El Arco Iris, the oldest Spanish club in Austin High School, is always glad to welcome new members into its midst.

The club colors are red, white, and—not blue—but green, and the emblem is a cactus. The aim of El Arco Iris is stimulation of interest in things Spanish, enjoyment of the musical background of Spanish, and understanding between Spanish-speaking and English-speaking students.

And this should interest you supporters of the all-work-and-no-play-etc. policy . . . the programs consist of songs, dances, plays, reports, games, and travelogues dealing with Spanish and Latin-American topics.

LE CERCLE FRANCAIS

Parlez vous francais? . . . Well, maybe not, but you'll still want to know what goes on right here in our very own French club sponsored by Mademoiselle Eloise Roach.

Organized in 1921, the Cercle has kept up tradition in that only French is spoken during the business meetings and the club programs, which consist of reports, by the members, on research into the manners, customs, plays, games and folk songs of the people of France.

Prodigious students of this romantic language are honored with the renowned "Fete de Saint Charlemagne," a meal ticket to which is an "A" in French. Another annual observance is that of the "Fete de Noel" which is, you may be sure, one of the most typically French events this side of Paris.

Y. T. S. BOTANICAL SOCIETY

Many clubs have been named for individuals of prominence so a group of aspiring young botanists in Austin High School decided to be different and name their organization for three different people The name they hit upon was Y. T. S. . . . standing for the names of three botanists who have named plants near Austin: Doctor Mary Sophia Young, Doctor B. C. Tharp, and Miss Ellen D. Schultz.

The club entered the State Wild Flower Contest in 1929, the first year of Y. T. S's existence, 1930, and 1931 and won second place all three times.

You may have wondered where some of the shrubbery around our A. H. S. came from it didn't just spring up, you know Well, the credit for the roses and the flower beds in front of the building goes to the Y. T. S. Botanical Society And we'll say they really deserve it!

Y. T. S. participated in the inter-club contest held here this spring, and also sent delegates to the meeting of the Texas Junior Academy of Science in Houston.

This year the Nature Science Club joined in an inter-club contest, with the Y. T. S. Botanical Society, and various members of the club gave interesting scientific reports.

At the meeting of the Texas Academy of Science at Houston this spring, C. A. Schutze won first place with his report on reptiles, and Willie Lentz won second place with his discussion on bacteria in drinking fountains. C. A. was also elected president of the East Texas region of the organization.

AUSTIN MODEL AIRPLANE CLUB

They fly through the air with the greatest of ease No, not the daring young men on the flying trapezes BUT the model airplanes, products of the Austin Model Airplane Club which was organized in 1926 to create an interest in aeronautics.

These boys, being high flyers, chose the motto, "We Fly High." Their colors are blue and cream, and the club flower is the dandelion.

Each year an outdoor meet sponsored by the club is held on the drill field at Camp Mabry, and frequent indoor meets are held in the High School gymnasium. At the end of each semester an award a trophy or model supplies is given to each boy who totals the highest number of points in the senior and junior divisions.

"Dots and dashes and lots of flashes from border to border and coast to coast!" Did you know that we have a group of budding amateur radio operators right here in our midst?

Some six or seven years ago, a group of boys who were interested in studying the radio got together and decided to form the Amateur Radio Club. Since that time the membership has increased greatly, but there is still room in the club for boys who are seriously interested in becoming better acquainted with the technical side of radio, and who will submit interesting radio sets to be placed on exhibition.

This club can broadcast that it is a charter member of the Junior Academy of Science.

CAMERA CLUB

Look at the birdie! The ole bird in this case is a member of the Austin High School Camera Club. If YOU are super-sensitive to good composition and don't mind taking extra special shots from precarious angles AND provided you have a good lawyer just in case you get sued for owning some libelous pictures the Camera Club is the place for you. The more the merrier, they say.

In the Semi-Annual Salons of Photography, conducted by this club, Austin High has a chance to see some really fine photographic work, and lucky members of the club who have the most perfect compositions are awarded ribbons.

SARGONIAN PHILATELIC CLUB

"Lick 'em and stick 'em!" it may sound like a prize fight but, on the contrary, it's the motto of the Philatelic (STAMP to you) Club. The club flower believe it or not . . . is the cactus.

The object of the club is to give stamp collectors a chance to compare, buy, and sell stamps . . . and to learn something about them besides the well-known fact that they must be stuck on letters going through the mail.

By the way do YOU know the difference between a post card and a postal card? well, if not, here's your chance to find out for that is a main purpose of the Philatelic Club.

CHAPARRAL CLUB

Hiking, dancing, horseback riding and camping are the activities which the Chaparral Club engages in (and excels in, too, we say).

Under the leadership of Mrs. Barridge and Mrs. Brelend, prominent Austin scouters, these Girl Scouts have gone on a three-day pack trip on horseback, have given several dances at the Girl Scout cabin at Zilker Park, and danced an intricate Czech folk dance at a program to promote international peace.

This club was organized in 1936 to promote Senior Scouting in Austin High, and has done it as is shown by its active membership of twenty. They have also become something of a saddle club as all its members ride and many Chaparral excursions are taken on horseback.

LYMAN J. BAILEY CLUB

Named in honor of Lyman J. Bailey, pioneer Scouter of Austin, who helped organize Scouting in Austin, the Lyman J. Bailey Club was organized two years ago as a service organization. Last year it operated without a sponsor, but this year Mr. Guinn has directed its many activities.

Big-wigs in Austin politics are the Lyman J. Baileys, for during Boy Scout Week they captured three seats in the City Council. One of these councilmen, Ralph Frede, was elected Mayor. Through Alfred Miller they controlled the City Manager's office.

♣ Bailey boys are well known because of their responsible positions in many school organizations and because of their unique initiations in which their "tenderfeet" walk our halls in scout shorts. They are also outstanding in that they form most of the color guard in the Memorial Day services.

HI-Y No. 1

If you are out on the "DRAG" late some Wednesday afternoon and hear some goings-on in the general vicinity of the Y. M. C. A. building . . . you can be sure that it is just another meeting of the Austin High School Hi-Y Club. These young gents convene once a week for confabs on current problems that reach the lives of every high school boy. Not only do the programs touch upon the deeper subjects, but also the members frequently polish up the old vocal chords and fill the air with lusty gusto and song in your University neighborhood. "Eat, Drink, and Be Merry" might be included in the motto of these energetic males . . . for never a year passes that they don't tempt their palates with supercolossal picnics and banquets.

Yes, Hi-Y's 'n' handsome . . . that's what they be . . . we mean, of course the members of the Austin Chapter of the Hi-Y Club.

HI-Y II.

Once upon a time
In Austin High School there was a
Little Club.
My Name is Hi-Y, said the little club.
By and by there was another club.
My name is Hi-Y, TWO (TOO), said the other little club.
We are both H-Y's, said the little clubs.
I am a good club, said Hi-Y, No. 2.
My members are good boys because they "Create,
Maintain,
And extend throughout the school and
Community
High Standards of Christian fellowship."
My members are good boys
Because they discuss
At our weekly meetings any problems
Which
Might confront the average high school boy.
So, you see
A club can't help but be good
With
SO MANY GOOD members!

GIRLS' INTRAMURAL MANAGERS

You've all (yes, you boys, too) heard the announcements every morning about the Intramural Tournaments played after school well, naturally somebody has to arrange the games and decide who plays whom and when, etc. All this brainwork is done by a newly-organized club called the Girls' Intramural Managers Its members are representatives of the clubs which go out for sports there are a lot of them too

As well as drawing places in tournaments they have this job of keeping up with the points acquired by each club, notifying club members when they play, and of being on hand in the gym for managing all games.

MANAGER'S AWARD

Nelly Jean Griffith, Intramural Manager for the Minoan Literary Society, received the first award to be presented by the Girls' Intramural Manager's Club to one of its members. The award, a white felt A, was awarded for efficiency and promptness in getting in her lists of club intramural entries. Under her leadership, the Minoans reached third place in Intramurals.

GRIDIRON CLUB

Usually when the football season is over, the players forget (so it seems) all about football and go into hibernation not so with the Austin High School teamsters for they've organized a Gridiron Club which is striving to keep that old football spirit up throughout the school year.

With Coach Lambert as its able director, the club is studying various football techniques and we hope they intend to practice them in the 1939 season.

We wouldn't be in the least suprised if right here in our own collection of stellar gridsters we didn't have several budding Davey O'Briens.

RED JACKETS

From peanuts to Red Jackets or rather we imagine they were peanuts anyway, Miss Florence Brooke was their sponsor way back in 1919 when they were known as the Football Backers' Club. Wonder what a peanut was? It was and still IS a mark of unusual intelligence in Miss Brooke's English Classes. Wonder what a Red Jacket is? Just another name for those pretty damsels who march between halves at the football games. So mix peanuts with Red Jackets and whatta you have? Huh? The supersplendiferous pep squad of Austin High School.

These girls are certainly up and coming in their efforts to promote school spirit and good sportsmanship and don't think they aren't the first to meet visiting teams and delegations in on their "Specials"

During the school year they encourage students to turn in new yells so that they will have more reason than ever to suck their lemons at the games.

GIRLS' ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

Some people would call them tomboys some would call them just all-round girls but whatever they be they're what make the wheels go 'round in the Athletic department.

The G. A. A's got their start back in 1923 when the Girls' Physical Education Department decided they'd do something about promoting Intramural Sports participation among the high school girls. A. H. S. girls elected to this organization fifty strong represent various clubs and societies within the school. In this way a great majority of the school activities are entered in the Intramural contests AND there's hardly a G. A. A. who can't pitch a mean tenniquoit or make a top form bull's-eye.

The Junior Prom, the brainstorm of the G. A. A.'s is for LADIES ONLY with accent on the o-n-l-y. When promenading time rolls around the local gents hurry to seclusion taking with them every trace of wearing apparel they can scrape up. However, some unfortunates are left at the mercy of those feminine thugs who stop at nothing in order that they may wear SOMEBODY'S (just ANYBODY'S) tux to the social event of the season. It is then that the female gets the chance to order the food AND foot the bill. Good experience, their usual victims chorus.

THE RADIO GUILD

Slowly the music grows louder all faces are turned toward the loudspeaker expecting to hear a dreaded list of names. Then an announcer says in a clear voice: "The Radio Guild presents" and a play unfolds a love story, a melodrama, or a comedy.

This dramatic group was organized during the spring of 1938, thanks to the installation of the public address system. The Guild has a staff which writes and produces original plays under the able direction of Miss Maude Cuenod and Mr. Guy Bizzell. Just as they do in the real broadcasting studios, sound-effect men and engineers work with the traditional sand and cellophane to achieve the sounds of hurricanes, etc.

For further information regarding the Radio Guild, keep the ears peeled for the next Radio Guild presentation meanwhile "pause for station identification."

No doubt you have noticed the young gentlemen with the bright red caps or large white hats, depending on the weather who are stationed on all the nearby corners three times every day. Their job is in case you hadn't noticed to prevent the members of our student body from adding any black marks to the safety record of the "Friendly City."

Not only has the Austin High School Safety Patrol won local glory by being honored five terms by the Austin Chamber of Commerce with an award for being the best drilled organization of its kind in this city, but three years in succession it has been recognized as the outstanding High School patrol in the United States.

GLEE CLUB

HYPOTHESIS: Given one young man strolling nonchalantly toward the Band Hall and seclusion from Mr. Williams. Given, also, one weatherbeaten frame structure with sagging front porch, pillars entirely capable of collapsing in the next windstorm, natural air-conditioning due to daily decrease in window panes, and a papiermache roof which resembles we would imagine a sieve!

CONCLUSION: To prove that the young man is not imagining things that the old Band Hall really takes deep breaths and quivers in the breeze the first period in the morning that our high school Glee Club will be responsible for its fate if they keep on hitting those PRIZE-WINNING notes!

ACHIEVEMENTS: 1939 got off to a flying start when contractors demolished the old Band and Glee Club Hall ALSO, the following prize-winning notes were added to the Glee Club's sterling record:

First division winners in State Music Educators Meet in San Marcos.

Presented by the Wednesday morning Music Club in a Radio program.

Vocal work in the Austin Century of Conquest.

Presented a public concert at the Driskill Hotel.

ORCHESTRA

Greetings all you swingsters! Gather around and lend your ears to the mellow notes of the A. H. S. orchestra. Miss Maurine Owen has done wonders with her up and coming proteges considering that the group started with only seven members and now has approximately seventy-five, who play the music of Beethoven, Mozart, Rachmaninoff, and other masters.

The Comet takes it hat off to this symphonic organization, both for its accomplishments in the field of solo playing and its work as a whole at the various contests that have been held.

Classical music once in a while does us all good; so let's hear more of this promising organization.

Here are their 1939 accomplishments:

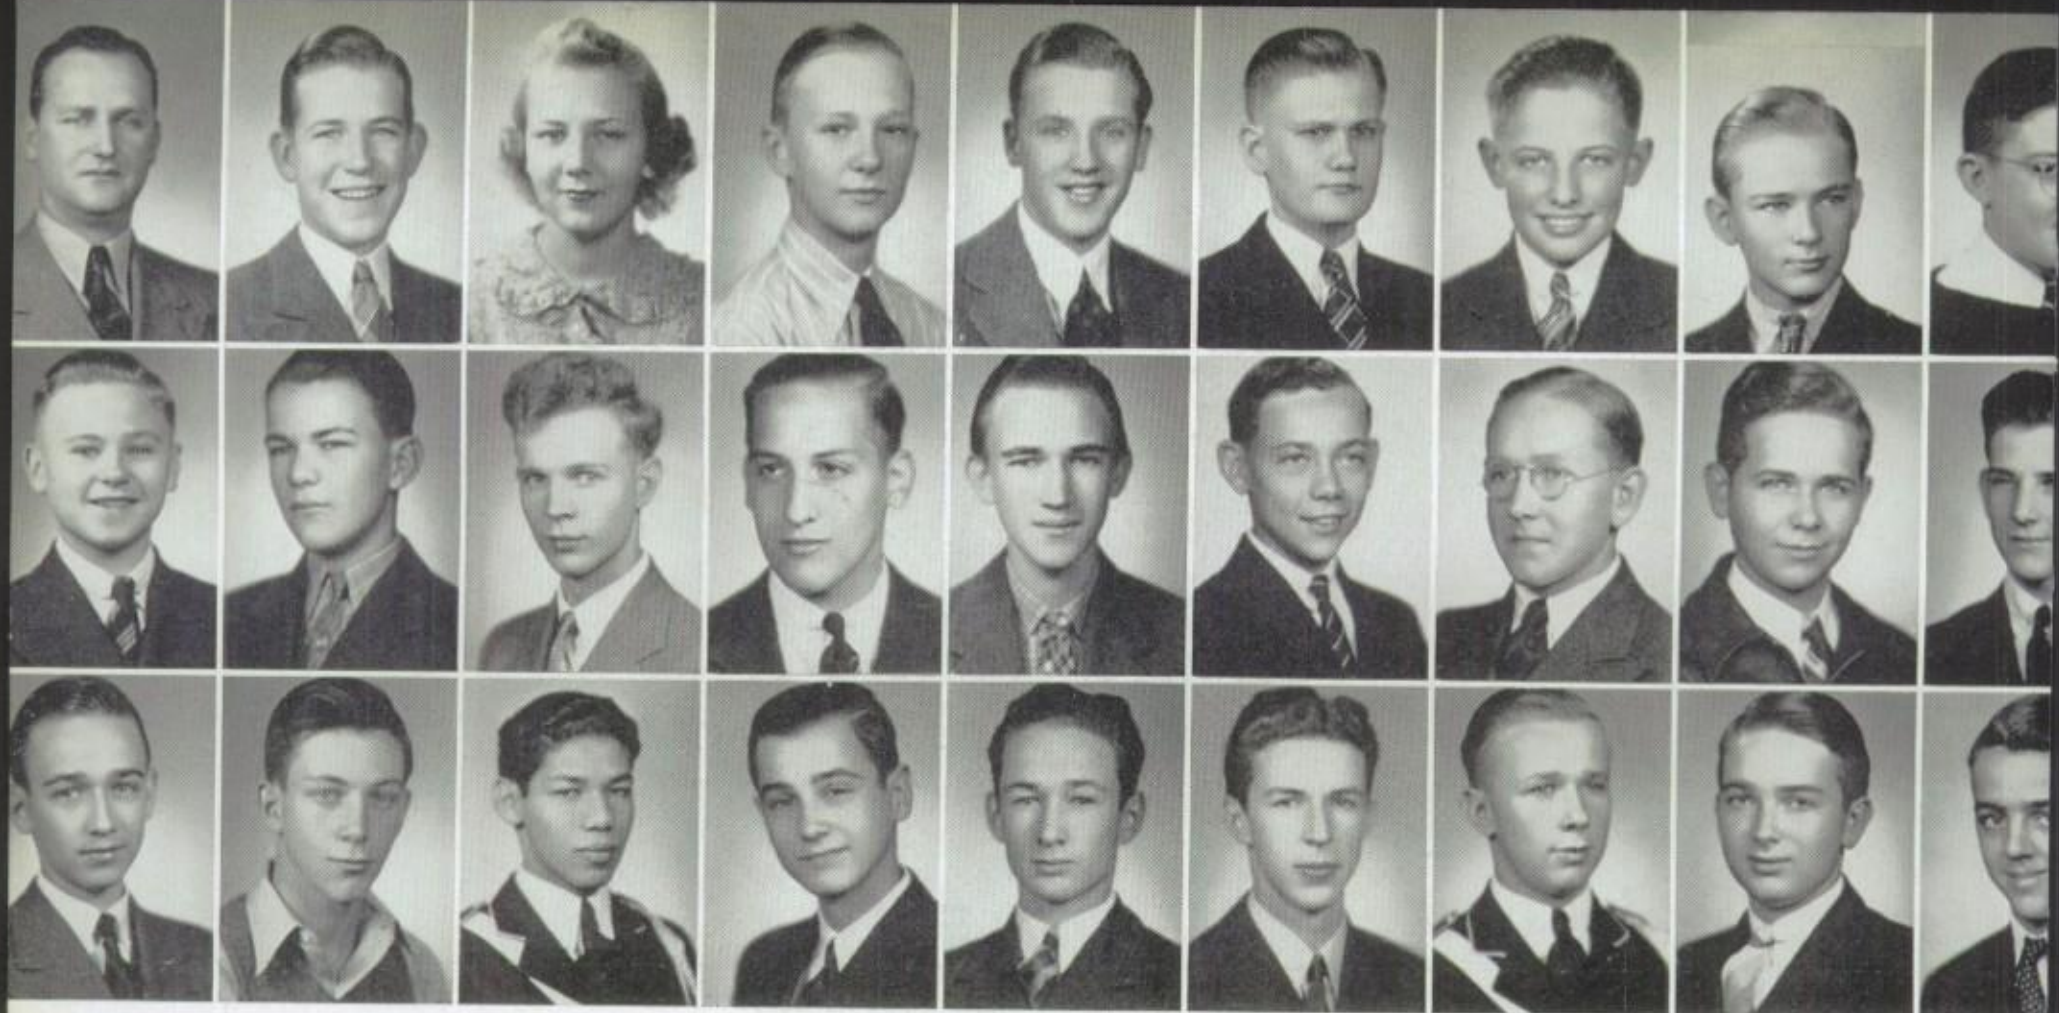

At the State Orchestra Contest they were rated "Superior."

There were also many solos rated in the First Division.

The orchestra was represented at the Clinic at Houston and also at the Clinic in San Antonio.

Besides all this, the orchestra presents concerts and plays for banquets.

AUSTIN HIGH SCHOOL BAND

People have always been susceptible to uniforms those of highway patrolmen, Western Union boys, American Legionnaires (and their sons) AND those of the snazzy maroon and white get-ups sported by the members of the Austin High School Band at football games and other school functions.

Some say "it don't mean a thing if they ain't got that swing" Well, the Austin High School Band is not lacking in that. However, our musicians can go to town on classical numbers as well as on popular swing tunes And have we ever seen them march!

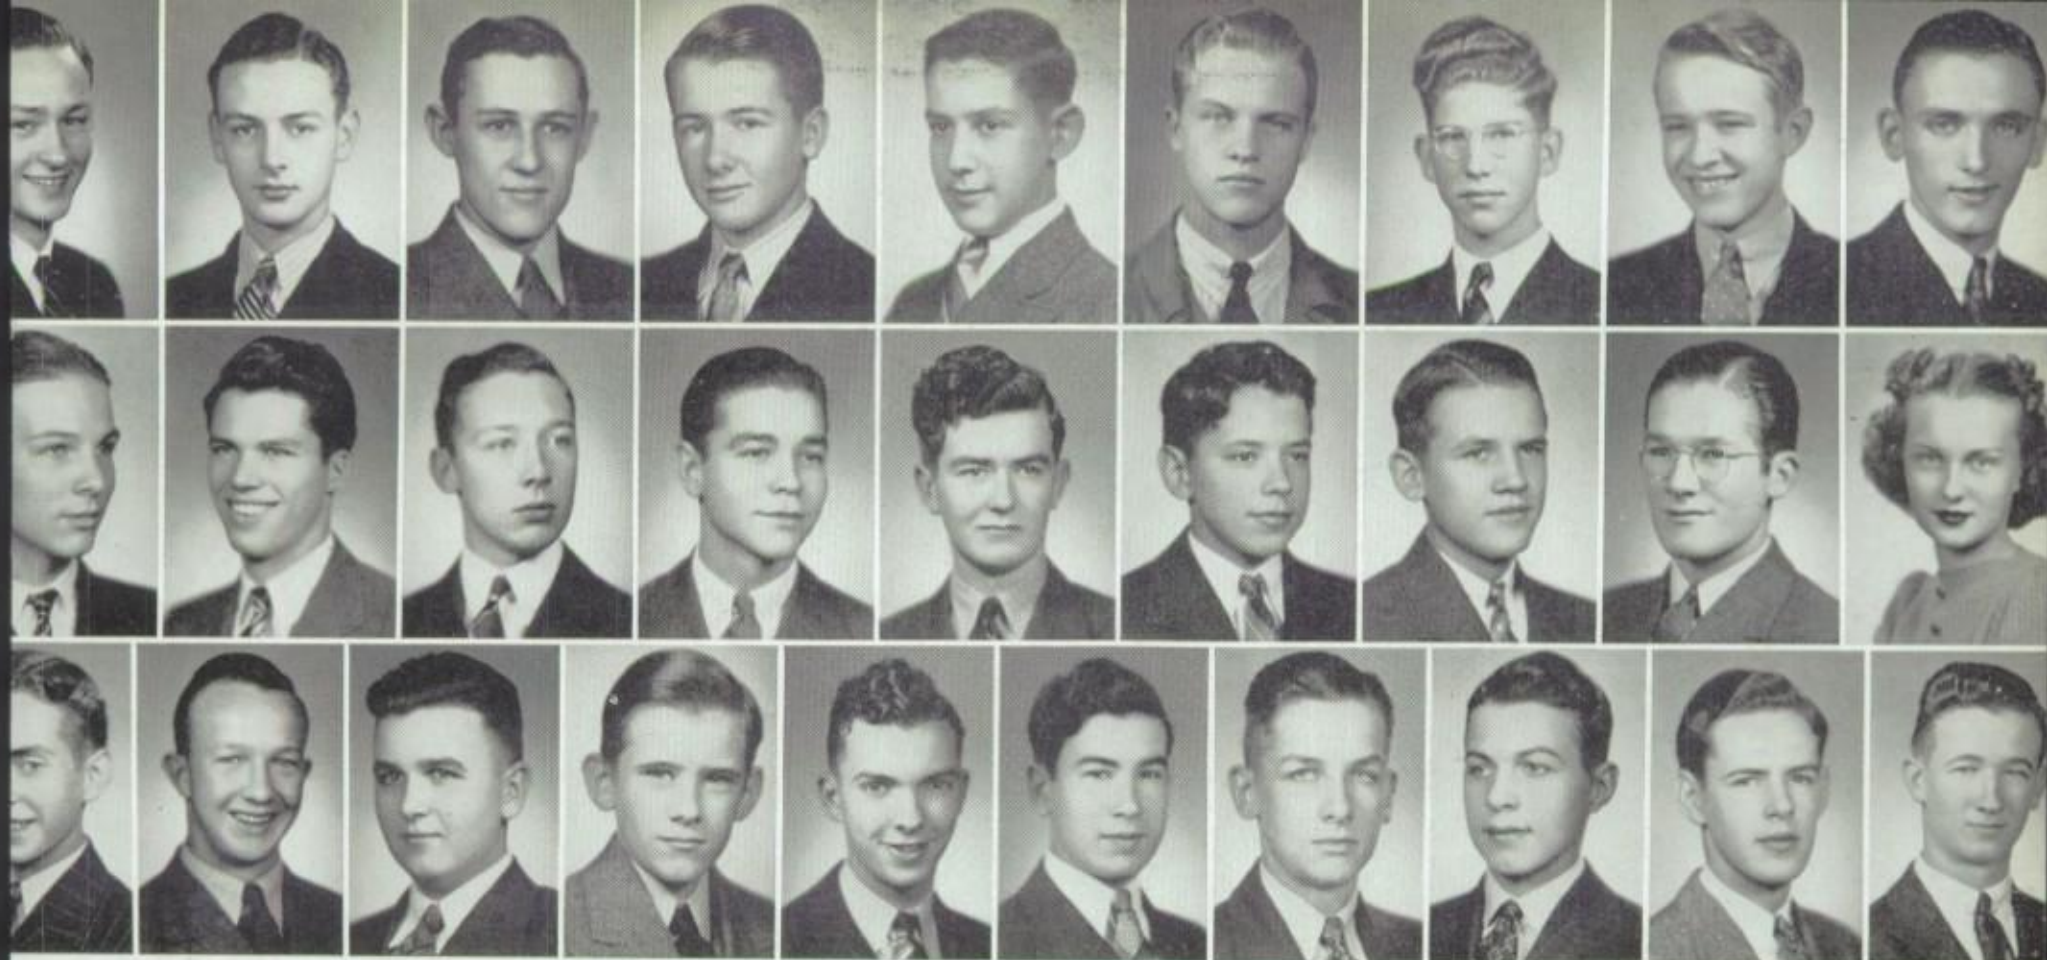

You want to know what organization in Austin High School always wins? We'll give you a tip just take a look at the list of superior awards won by our band during the last five years.

INTERSCHOLASTIC DEBATE

Interscholastic work in debate with Chase Winfrey as Coach has progressed within the school during the year. Large squads have been maintained in both boys' and girls' debate, and record achievements have been made. All attempts have been made to broaden the field of competition and participation. Both the number of entries in events and the number of events entered have been increased. Statewide tournaments entered were: Austin; Baylor University, Waco; John Reagan, Houston; the South Texas Tournament, Yoakum; the Red River Valley Tournament, Denison; The North Texas Tournament, Wichita Falls; the University of Texas Debate Institute; and the San Marcos Teacher's College Institute. The second Austin High School Debate Tournament was conducted. The Austin teams won various places in the numerous contests throughout the state, and to date in Interscholastic Competition the first boys' team, Robert Sneed and Houghton Brownlee, and the first girls' team, Frances Benson and Marcia Gambrell, entered the State Meet in Austin; the girls lost to the State winners in the Semi-finals, and the boys won the State. During the year the squads were unanimously elected to the National Forensic Honor Society, the National Forensic League.

Interscholastic Declamation found four students in competition. The school was represented by Gene Ravel in the Baylor University Tournament in Waco. The annual Intramural in debate was conducted by Miss Mary Farley. Participation from Independent Speakers and Club Members was rather extensive. The question under discussion was "Resolved: That the State of Texas Should Adopt a Uniform Retail Sales Tax." Approximately forty teams—boys and girls—entered. Both the boys' and the girls' tournaments were won by independent teams: Hugh King Davis and Bill Barnhouse, boys; and Dorothy Matthews and Marcia Gambrell, girls.

This year found about sixty declaimers entered in the annual Intramurals in Declamation. So far as possible some training was afforded each speaker. After two eliminations the following students were adjudged winners: Gene Ravel, Independent Speaker, Sr. Boy; Sheba Brill, Hypatian, Sr. Girl; Rosemary Davis, Independent Speaker, Jr. Girl; and Water Moore, Calhoun, Jr. Boy.

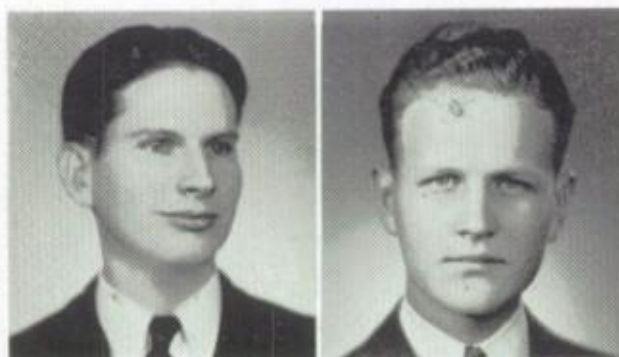

Each fall semester an intramural in extemporaneous speech is held. The purpose of this contest is to induce students to increase their knowledge on current topics of vital interest, to give students an opportunity to develop their general speaking ability, and to serve as a partial basis for the selection of interscholastic speakers.

In the intramural contest held last fall the following students were winners:

BOYS
1st—Clifton Mitchell
2nd—George Hale
3rd—David Williams

GIRLS
1st—Janet Crouch
2nd—Betty Jim Hall
3rd—Martha Hale

EXTEMPORANEOUS SPEECH

Wier

Mitchell

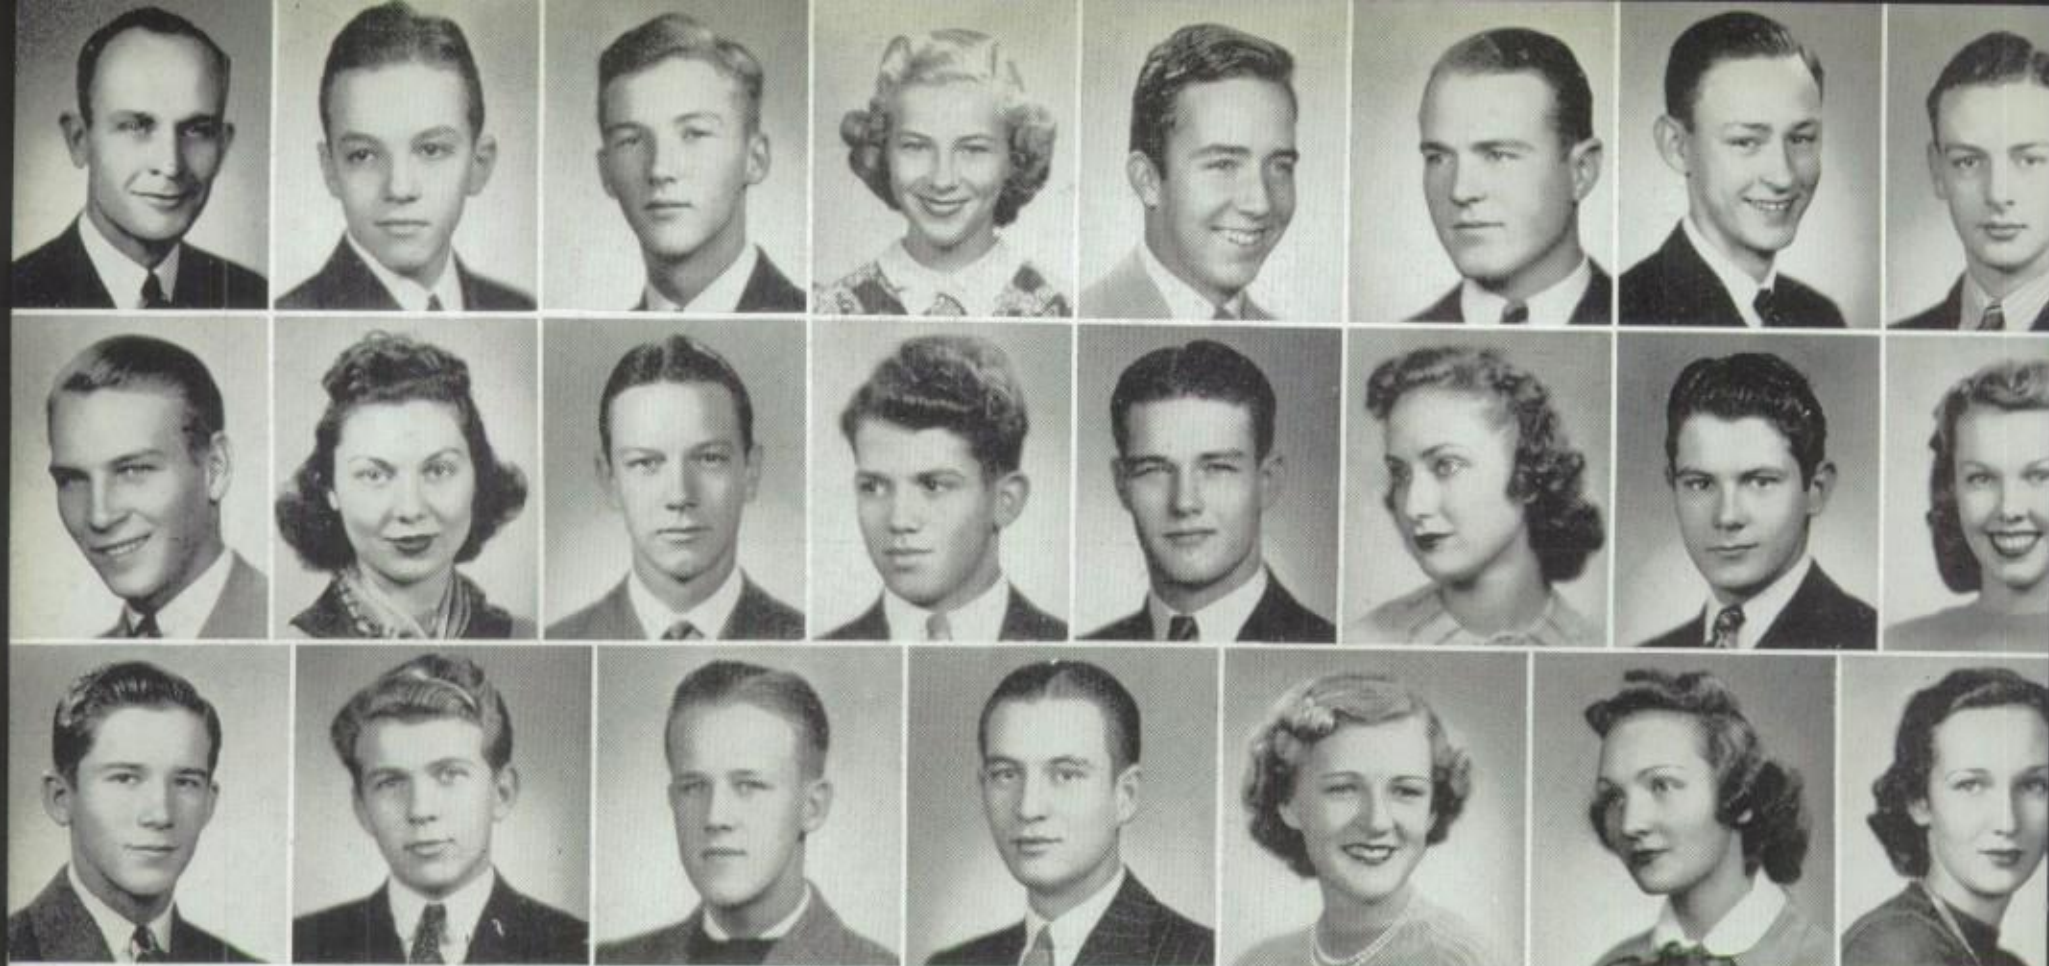

The interscholastic group for extemporaneous speech was composed of two boys, Howard Davis (regular speaker) and Richard Hardin (alternate); and two girls, Betty Jim Hall (regular speaker) and Martha Hale (alternate).

On April 1, this group met La Grange, winners in their county, in a practice contest in Austin. The Austin speakers ranked as follows:

BOYS
1st—Howard Davis
3rd—Richard Hardin

GIRLS
1st—Betty Jim Hall
2nd—Martha Hale

In the district meet Howard Davis won second place in the boy's division. Since all of these students are in the ninth grade, they should be heard from with even better results in future years.

RED DRAGON PLAYERS

One-Act Play Not to be put into Production

By I'm-No-Maxwell-Anderson

ACT I

Characters: Two timid freshmen who wonder what it's all about.

Scene: An odoriferous corridor near the Science Department.

Freshie No. 1: I've looked and looked (and looked and looked) and still I can't find those Red Dragons my big sister was always talking about.

Second Freshie: Le's go ask the Zoology teacher. He knows all about where them animals are kept.

EXIT

Listen, my child, and you shall hear
Not of the ride of Paul Revere
But of Red Dragons have no fear!
The greatest men have walked our floors
Gables, Powers, Barrymores
Amid our walls there still remain
Wee bits of Garbo, Lynne Fontanne
"I wonder where they are?" you ask
Finding them's an easy task
Just go to any high school play
You'll see your friends in grand array
To Theatrical stars they've hitched their wagons.
These, my child, are the REAL Red Dragons.

THE MAROON

Under the able superintendency of James Walter Markham, professor of journalism, does the Austin Maroon, supreme bi-weekly journalistic output, reveal to the student body . . . for the sum of five cents or a subscription . . . just exactly what goes on within our four walls. Having successfully captured an "All-American" rating which places it in the same category with the ten best papers of its class in the United States, the Maroon is regarded by the Texas High School Press Association as a worthy example of the part high school journalism is playing in preparing high school students for the new "open door" policy of the journalistic field.

For several years the Maroon has sponsored poetry and short story contests, and "Frolic Nite" when the organizations of the school compete with skits for prizes donated by the Maroon to those clubs giving the best all-round presentation.

The Maroon has won the confidence of the students by launching powerful editorial campaigns soliciting the support of the students and faculty in securing improvement in student government and the cultivation of new ideas in the minds of the readers.

A familiar sight about the school is the Maroon office, the home of T. H. S. P. A. "blankets," loving cups, and bedlam.

QUILL AND SCROLL

"Squeal and Crow," as it is affectionately called by some of its less dignified members, is a National Honor Society in itself . . . not strictly scholastically speaking, of course, but more journalistically so.

Since this organization was established here in 1929, its rosters have included most of the more spectacular journalists of A. H. S. Its members have from time to time represented the Maroon and the Comet at the annual meeting of the Texas High School Press Association, and in the fall of 1938, they mustered up sufficient courage to travel all the way to the Hoosier State in Mr. Markham's Ford to attend the National Press Convention.

In addition to giving some very spiffy parties and banquets each year, Quill and Scroll plays host to the delegates to the Interscholastic League Press Conference when they arrive here for their annual convention on the University campus.

FOOTBALL--1938

SAN SABA

The Austin Maroons opened the 1938 football season on September 16 against the strong San Saba Armadillos, and proved that they "had something" by defeating them 19-0. The Armadillo attack featured Dean Bagley, who was the highest individual scorer in the nation during 1937. However, the Crimson offensive was too much, as Park, Mayhall, and Stroud each crossed the goal line, and Park converted one extra point.

TEMPLE

The Maroons next went to Temple for their annual fray with the Temple Wildcats, but did not play up to their standard of the previous week, so lost the game 22-7.

The only Austin score was made by Park in the second quarter, when he circled right end and from the ten-yard line, and then converted the extra point. The touchdown play was set up by two long passes; one from Park to Hamilton, and another from Mayhall to Park.

Park made the first tally from the 30-yard line, in the fourth play of the game, by ripping through the center of the Mustang line. The second score was made with a beautifully executed forward lateral from Park to Fischer to Stroud. The net gain of this play was 61 yards and 6 points. After a 25-yard pass from Park to Stroud, Raven whipped back to the left on a reverse, for the third score. The second half was a repetition of the first when Mayhall scored on a "bootlegger" play, and Park passed to Fischer for the closing score of the game. Park made good the conversion.

BRACKENRIDGE

The Brackenridge Eagles were the next obstacles in the Maroons' path, and they were removed on San Antonio's Eagle Field by a score of 13-6. Although the Austin contingent was battered and bruised after 60 minutes of tackling the giant 207 pound Milton Crain, they won their greatest victory of the season by eliminating the Birds from the district championship chase. Harold Fischer, who was the game captain, played what was probably the greatest game of his career.

The initial score of the game was made in the closing minutes of the second quarter. Collins found Park open on his favorite "sneak pass," completing the serial for 31 yards to Brackenridge's 9-yard line. Park then made 7 yards on two tries inside tackle, and Collins went over on a wide sweep for the score.

Brackenridge scored early in the second half but failed to convert, leaving the score 7-6. But on the third play of the last quarter, Collins again scored on the same end run. This touchdown play was set up by Park's 26-yard cut-back and another sweep by Collins which netted 13 yards.

Although the Austin supporters were kept in suspense until the final gun, the battered Maroons managed to keep Crain's wrecking crew between the goal lines.

WACO

Returning to Austin, the Maroons entertained the powerful Waco Tigers at the Texas Memorial Stadium. Catching the Maroons in an off game, the Waco lads ran up a 40-7 score. The Maroons spent most of the afternoon passing, scoring only one touchdown. Due to the fact that they were badly crippled after a hard schedule, the Maroons were no match for the Bengals. The Maroon tally came on a pass from Collins to Fischer.

SAN ANTONIO TECH

Returning to their district opponents the following week, the San Antonio Tech Buffaloes were eliminated 13-6. Although not against a major opponent, Park played an outstanding ball game, carrying the ball 18 times for an average of nearly 9 yards per try and completing 3 out of 4 passes for a total of 40 more yards. Fischer and Stroud played their usual consistent game.

KERRVILLE

With the District championship at stake, the Austin Maroons invaded the highlands and were blasted from the championship hunt when they dropped a 32-6 decision to the Tivy Antlers of Kerrville. It was one of those nights when everything goes wrong . . . Cold weather, high altitudes, injuries to key men, commission of nearly every mistake in football, combined to cause the downfall.

Tivy scored three times in the first half and it looked as if they had things under control, when Mayhall found Park open on the same sneak pass and scored the only touchdown for Austin High School.

"B" TEAM FOOTBALL

Coached by Tony Burger, the "B" team turned in a very successful season and showed good prospects for next year's Maroon eleven.

Jimmy Munro was probably the best ball carrier. Ferris Nassour stood out as a blocking back. Other back-field hopefuls were Pete Lewis, Ed McClure, and Tommy Grey.

The line showed such good work that Jack Swenson, Dan Muenster, and Albert Swartzner were promoted to the "A" squad, and Pat Farrell and Guy Ezelle were credited for their consistent work as guard and tackle respectively.

GOLDSHIRTS

Breaking through a tough schedule, the Goldshirts won three games, lost four, and tied one.

Captain-Quarterback Lewis Oatis, Cromley, and Gardner played outstanding ball in the backfield, while Kelso, Falley, Kluge, McCabe, and Hodges, linemen, should be important cogs in the future football machines of the Maroon and White.

BASKETBALL

Basketball prospects for 1939 seemed poor at the beginning of the season, but before the time of the district clash Austin High School had a squad capable of making it tough for any team in the state.

All through the season, the Maroons were weakened by a lack of speed and drive. They had good team-work and reasonable height, but they seemed to lack that extra drive and hustle that makes the difference between a good team and a great one.

The squad lost the opening game of the season to last year's state champions, the Woodrow Wilson Wildcats, 29-24, but redeemed themselves the following week by defeating the San Marcos Rattlers, 32-22. Next, the Maroons took two games from the highly-touted Ringgold quintet, 32-23 and 35-19. The following week, however, a tall, fast-stepping team from Brackenridge downed the Austin basketekers, 24-14.

BASKETBALL

Coach Burger next took the boys to the San Antonio tournament, where they reached the quarter-finals by defeating the Harlandale Indians 29-16, but lost their next game to Sam Houston, 33-22.

The Austin boys took one game from Thomas Jefferson, 33-30, before journeying to the Temple Tournament. There they reached the finals by defeating Little River, West, and Oenaville before the Brackenridge Eagles downed them in the finals 47-27. The team received a trophy for second place and Jarl made the all-tournament team.

At the regional meet, the Maroons pounded down the hardwood to the finals, downing Devine, 33-23, which placed the squad among the sixteen best teams in the state. Their crushing defeat came in the regional finals at the hands of the Lanier quintet, 25-20. The team hustled and fought the whole game, but it seemed they just couldn't make the grade. Lanier advanced to the state finals, and lost the championship by only two points.

Jarl and Metzenthin made the all-regional team.

Overcoming an early season slump, the Austin High School baseball team pounded through their 1938 season in fine style. Of thirteen games, they won nine and tied one. Of three losses, two were accounted for by the powerful St. Edward's Tigers and one by the Hondo nine.

The team showed fine sportsmanship and ability in these games, though they dropped the Tiger tilts 9-3 and 5-3.

The Hondo team from southern Texas slugged out the worst defeat the Maroons had suffered in several years by downing them 21-1.

The Strickland club played two thrilling games with the powerful Texas Freshmen; a pitchers' battle tie of 1-1 and an extra inning contest, in which the Reds took the Freshmen 9-8.

The majority of the Maroon tallies were made possible by the efficient use of the few hits which they were able to knock out against the opposing pitchers. Much of the Maroon power lay in the excellent mound work of Charles Stevenson and Lefty Gossett.

TRACK

The 1938 track team had a fairly successful season, although a very unlucky one, losing several meets by less than four points.

The first meet of the year was a dual meet with Lockhart, won by Austin 79-24. In the Border Olympics, however, the mercurymen were not quite so fortunate, being nosed out of first place by the Lockhart contingent.

Running against teams from 40 different schools entered in the Cameron Invitational Meet, Austin won the second place trophy after running a close race for first honors. In the Lockhart relays, Austin sprinted away from a field of fourteen teams and took the meet for the first time.

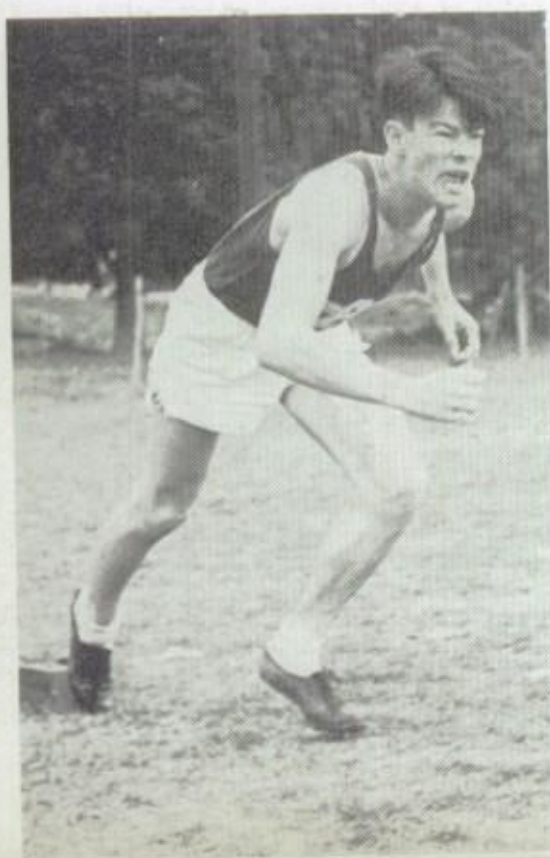

The next event of the season was the Texas Relays, where the Crimson squad took second in the medley relay.

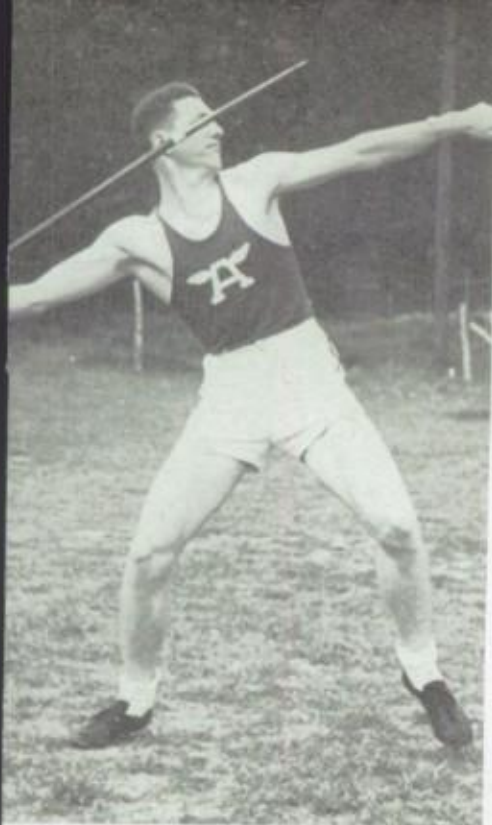

The Keelmen next traveled to the San Jacinto Relays at Houston, where they won third place with 12 points.

The greatest victory of the year for the thinly clad was the District Meet in Georgetown, which Austin won with 70½ points. The next highest team had only 13 points. Temple, Austin's traditional rival, took sixth place with 7 points.

In the regional meet, Austin lost a heart-breaker to Brackenridge by one point, 26-25, and later legged through the San Antonio Invitational Meet 3 points behind the winner.

Four Austin men qualified for the finals in the state meet and two, Glendenning and Jacques, each placed in their respective events.

Members of the mile relay team were Covert, Mayhall, Park, and Abramson. The medley team, which took second place in the Texas Relays, was composed of Farmer, Mayhall, Park, and Abramson. The 440 relay team was made up of Nelson, Covert, Park, and Abramson.

SWIMMING

Storming through a season filled with first rate competition, the Austin High School swimming team splashed to victory and a second place in the State Meet finals at A & M. Building around four lettermen, Bill Worrell, Harold Fischer, Walter Turner, and Captain Billy Bob Williams, of the previous season's champions, Coach Tex Robertson developed as fine a group of nautadors as were to be found in the State. Though a serious weakness was felt in the distance events, Bill Burns turned in a fine record for the season. Coach Robertson was also faced with a lack of backstroke material, but it is hoped that these boys will show a marked improvement by next season.

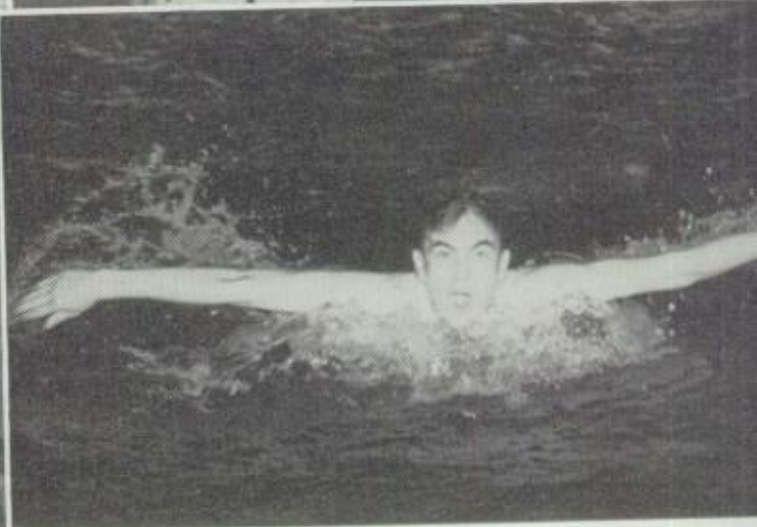

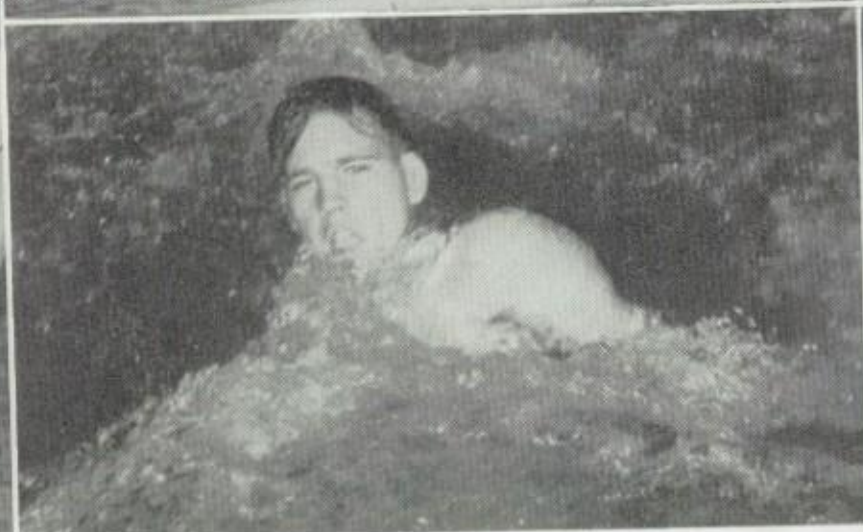

Since permission to hold high school meets in Gregory Gym was never granted, all of the meets were held out of town.

The team lost the first meet of the year to the Ft. Worth Y. M. C. A. by a score of 32-18. Denton took third with 8 points. The free-style relay team, composed of Worrell, Fisher, Lay, and Penn, copped the only first place Austin received. Other members of the team who saw service at Ft. Worth were Captain Williams, Turner, R. E. Burnett, Bill MacNaughton, and Harold Brelsford.

SWIMMING

The mermen next journeyed to San Antonio, only be ducked by the San Antonio Y. M. C. A. Williams took first place in breaststroke, Worrell first in diving, and Pryor second in backstroke.

The day before the State Meet, the team lost a close match to the Dallas Y. M. C. A. by the score of 33-30. First place was taken by the free-style relay team and the 50-yard free-styler, and a second place was gained by the diver. Other first places went to Turner, Fischer, and Williams, the members of the medley relay team.

At the State Meet in College Station, in which the swimmers came up against their first high school competition, they swam off with second place honors with $16\frac{1}{2}$ points, only after a hard fought battle with Paschal High for first place. Fischer took second in the fifty-yard dash, Williams second and Burnet fifth in the breaststroke, Worrell fourth in the diving, and a third was taken by the medley relay team.

"Splash" Williams was reelected captain for the next season, and it is strongly hoped by the Maroon and White supporters that next season the Austin High School swimming team will show its wake to Paschal High, and splash forth to their third state championship.

SLEDGE

Led by Bobby Penick, the Sledgemen won the district meet at Georgetown and swept on to the regional tournament at San Marcos before meeting defeat. Penick was the most consistent player, winning four matches in one day at Georgetown, and losing to a much-publicized state finalist at San Marcos.

Paul Slubicki, with his consistent and steady play, ranked second to Penick in boys' singles. Next came Bobby Taylor, coupling with John Scofield in doubles play, who proved himself not only the fastest man in the squad, but also a capable doubles player.

TENNIS

The Austin High School tennis team began the 1938 season by bringing back the feathers of the Georgetown Eagles. Although the Maroons lost to the powerful Robstown squad, the Austin racketeers came back and defeated Waco and Reagan in their next two matches. Their next defeat was given them by Brackenridge of San Antonio, but it was not long before they avenged this downfall in a return match, by adding these Alamo City netters to their list of vanquished.

Traveling to Galveston, the Crimson courtmen succeeded in swinging a mean racket, emerging victorious in their matches against Ball Hi School's prominent players.

Scofield, co-star of Austin's crack doubles team, showed much dependability, having a fine head for the game, as well as being an important factor in Austin's victory at Georgetown and hard fight against the state champion Nickson brothers of Thomas Jefferson in the regional meet.

Ed. Hatzfeld, as coach's assistant, topped off years of excellent play for the Austin Hi School by giving valuable coaching help, which was the product of training acquired only by long experience in defending titles of the Maroon and White.

TENNIS (Girls)

Despite frequent bad breaks, Austin High's girl's tennis team managed to keep well up with the first rate competition through the 1938 season.

They defeated John Reagan of Houston and Ball High of Galveston, losing their other matches only after a good fight.

Doris Burdett, with her determined spirit, teamed with hard fighting Becky Dougherty to make a doubles combination hard for any opponent to break up. Shelby Frizzel, with her ability to cover the court well, has an "A" number "one" job representing Austin in the singles divisions. It is hoped that Shelby will develop into a great star.

Clara Harris and Margaret Wendlandt, both potential hopefuls, completely filled the alternate positions.

Although the girl netters were particularly unfortunate in almost all of their matches, they will be back in there fighting hard next season to prove that they, too, have not only a season as successful as the boys' squad, but are also the best in the game.

GIRLS' INTRAMURALS

The Girl's Intramural Sports Program is sponsored by the Girl's Athletic Association under the direction of the Physical Education Department, with Miss Rugeley, chairman. Assisting in officiating are the Physical Education instructors and members of the G. A. A.

All intramural games are played after school in the gymnasium, and all contestants must be official representatives of an organized club or team.

By a system of elimination tournaments, the school championship in each activity is determined. Each club works for total team points and at the end of the year the club that has the highest total wins the trophy, and the runner-up receives a plaque.

Points are made by each club on the basis of:

- a. Number of teams entered and played.
- b. Rounds won.
- c. Progression in each tournament.
- d. And ready to play when match called.

Over 500 girls participated in the events this year, representing 15 clubs, and 10 independent teams. There were 180 doubles teams in the tenniquoits tournament; 42 in Basketball teams, 38 Volleyball squads; 20 Baseball teams, and 160 girls shot a Columbia Round in Archery.

The Club award this year went to the Euphronians Literary Society for gaining highest total of points scored—215. The Polyhymnians, Margaret Prestons, and G. A. A.'s tied for second place and the runner-up plaque with 200 points each.

EXPRESSING OUR APPRECIATION OF THE OPPORTUNITIES FOR CONTINUOUS SERVICE OFFERED US BY THE AUSTIN PUBLIC SCHOOLS DURING THE PAST TWENTY YEARS

Permanence---

We are living in a period of tremendous change. In recent years the entire order of things, as regards nations as well as individuals, has undergone tremendous upheaval.

And yet some things remain constant. Honesty, fairness and justice remain the same. Those institutions which intend to live and endure still hold to principles that are permanent.

Permanence is the guiding principle in the policy of the University Studio. We are here to stay, and everything we do is predicated on that fact. Therefore, we make the customer's interest our interest, because, if for no other reason, it is to our interest to do so. And in addition, we enjoy pleasing our customers. It is a source of pride and pleasure to us!
